Roslyn Levin

Sumi-e or Japanese Brush Painting –Watercolour:

In Sumi-e or Japanese Brush Painting, one moves with grace, strength, flexibility and balance. The artist is challenged to create paintings of simplicity and eloquence. You will learn more brush control and sensitivity that leads to a strength in your brushwork which will enhance whichever medium you should choose. On the first day of this workshop the students will learn the basic brushstrokes and apply them to paint the traditional subject of bamboo.

Students are welcome to email Roslyn with the kinds of flowers or plants, etc they are interested in so she can try to include them in the workshop. Both new and returning students are welcome!
